Message from the Chairman

This has been a milestone year in the history of the English-Speaking Union, as many initiatives, which have been developed and nurtured by my predecessors, have now come to fruition. The ESU is poised to face its second century with a renewed vision and confidence.

The reorganization of the 58 branches, which constitute our membership and support our programs, has been well received. The streamlined management and administration of a diverse and vibrant group of ESU communities has been effectively coordinated by our head office, and a new sense of unity prevails. That unity exhibits itself in the variety of exciting programs and offerings that members support and by the fact that so many members across the nation contribute to national initiatives such as the National Shakespeare Competition and the British University Summer School scholarships.

This year’s strategic planning has set the tone and the direction of the ESU, and it is incumbent on us to support its initiatives and embrace its vision. Our founder, Sir Evelyn Wrench, had a clear sense of the mission of the ESU. The passage of a century has not obscured that mission, and it has been my privilege to be part of the strategic planning discussions affirming Sir Evelyn’s goals and his sense that through the English language we can transcend race and embrace friendship.

Our new Strategic Plan reflects our desire to further the use of the English language as a vehicle for communication and outreach to communities within the United States and overseas. Our focus on English in Action as a descriptive phrase identifying what and who we are reflects the educational programs we have developed and the innovations we continue to encourage in providing for non-English speakers and new immigrants, giving them access to opportunity and security.

I urge you to attend our events, at your local branch and at national headquarters, and participate in a vibrant and exciting community that has its eyes firmly set on the future.

Dr. Paul Beresford-Hill CBE KStJ
Chairman | The English-Speaking Union of the United States

Message from the Executive Director

At all levels, the ESU has been proactively strategizing and restructuring for increased impact as a catalyst for global understanding in our turbulent, shrinking world. While “English in Action” has been the brand name of our preeminent, time-tested, one-on-one conversation program, it also truly depicts the work of our Andrew Romay New Immigrant Center (ARNIC), middle school debate, exchange and study abroad courses for students and teachers – all the programs outlined in this 2015-2016 fiscal year Annual Report.

Through its century of achievement, the ESU has periodically refocused itself in response to the changing contexts of society and its constituents and beneficiaries. A major achievement this year was the reformation of ESU branches into Limited Liability Companies (LLCs) to provide enhanced legal and administrative strength nationally and locally. Simultaneously, the ESU National Board of Directors enthusiastically engaged in a series of strategic planning sessions, beginning to clarify and focus the work we do within our mission. We are setting English into action to promote creative and confident civil discourse, enabling individuals—immigrants, students and teachers—to rise to their full potential, thrive as global citizens, and join worldwide in pursuing conditions for peace. I am deeply grateful that the English-Speaking Union of the United States National Board and Branch leaders are actively reconceiving the ESU to be relevant as a prominent educational charity, to break down barriers of ignorance and misunderstanding in the world ten, twenty, and fifty years from now.

This year, as we built on the strength of the ESU’s traditions to expand its programs to meet the needs of today, we marveled that our mission has proven both timeless and timely. Enjoy reading about our progress in this 2016 Annual Report.

Christopher Broadwell
Executive Director | The English-Speaking Union of the United States
The ESU employs English as a catalyst to foster global understanding and good will through educational opportunities and cultural exchange programs. In a shrinking world dominated by dollars and digits, bloody national borders and unprecedented numbers of displaced persons, the ESU believes in building a better world through the English language and international exchange. We work to inspire common bonds, person-to-person, one conversation, one presentation and one exchange at a time. By promoting creative and confident civil discourse, we enable participants to rise to their potential as individuals, thrive as global citizens, and join worldwide in pursuing conditions for peace.

ESU Mission:

“ESU celebrates English as a shared language to foster global understanding and good will by providing educational and cultural opportunities for students, educators, and members.”

ESU members work together locally and nationally to foster global understanding through a variety of educational, cultural and social programs. The ESU’s national programs are supported by its unrestricted endowment and corporate and foundation grants as well as by the generosity of members.

Members benefit from the personal relationships and international exposure gained from ESU activities and events while they provide financial and volunteer support to sustain ESU educational programs.

Since 1976

EiA pairs newcomers to the US with volunteers, fluent English speakers, for one-on-one conversation sessions, helping them master conversational English and learn about life in the US while also fostering cross-cultural exchange. A hallmark of the program is its comprehensive tutor training for the volunteers, which emphasizes the best practices in cross-cultural learning and leadership development. Expanded tutor trainings focused this year on cultural competency and working with refugees.

Branch EiA programs include: Portland (OR), Seattle (WA), Columbus (OH), Lexington (KY), Monmouth County (NJ), and New Orleans (LA).

Andrew Romay New Immigrant Center (ARNIC)

Since 2013

ARNIC is committed to improving the lives of new immigrants by providing a welcoming environment, resources, and information to help them improve their English to explore work and study opportunities, network, pursue citizenship, and acquire cultural fluency in order to participate fully in American society. Members receive a one-year scholarship to participate in English in Action, ARNIC English language classes, workshops, and cultural and civic trips and events.

ARNIC partnerships grew exponentially this year, with deepening relationships with organizations including StreetWise Partners and the New York Junior League both of which have laid the foundation for a special business mentorship program to pair recent immigrants with American professionals.

At the 2016 ARNIC graduation ceremony, Falcone Beljubi Billy Dembi, from the Republic of Congo, spoke on behalf of her fellow graduates, thanking Andrew Romay, the program founder and primary underwriter, the teachers and volunteers for their continuous support and encouragement, saying:

"This is a brilliant idea to create this program and help new immigrants from all over the world. Mr. Romay planted these seeds in us, watered us and today he can see the fruits of his labor! We are the fruits of this program that helps immigrants and refugees like myself to find friends, learn English and feel more confident in our new country."

Shakespeare Teacher Programs

Since 2010

270 educators from 17 states impacting 27,000 students

English and drama teachers nationwide returned to their classrooms better prepared to teach Shakespeare, after attending English-Speaking Union Teaching Shakespeare Workshops, produced in partnership with the world-renowned Folger Shakespeare Library.

As part of Shakespeare400, the international yearlong celebration of the Bard’s legacy, the 2016 workshops focused on teaching the 1623 First Folio, the first collection of Shakespeare’s works including the first known printing of many of his plays. ESU Teaching Shakespeare Workshops undertaken by ESU Branches took place in Honolulu (HI), Syracuse (NY), Fort Lauderdale (FL), Red Bank (NJ), Providence (RI), Kansas City (MO) and New York City. Among the ESU’s partner organizations in the workshops were the Kansas City Public Library, the New-York Historical Society, Brown University, LeMoyne College and Two River Theater of NJ. Additionally, ESU Branches in Central Florida, Los Angeles, Oklahoma City and Tulsa (OK) organized independent summer Shakespeare workshops for teachers.

National Speakers Program

Since 1920

The Evelyn Wrench Speaker Tour, named for the ESU founder, presented prominent lectures in the fields of history, politics, the arts, literature and current events in cities across the country through the network of ESU Branches. The ESU national office undertook the program and planned them with the cooperation of the Branches. This year’s Wrench speakers were Richard Buckley OBE, Co-Director of the University of Leicester Archeological Services, speaking on The King Under the Car Park: The Search for Richard III; Simon Claxton, Retired English schoolteacher and former ESU Exchange Student on Meeting William Faulkner: How an English Schoolboy Found a Literary Lion; The Lord Lisvane KCB, Retired Clerk of the House of Commons on A Universal Charter? The Legacy of the Magna Carta; Robert Hulse, Director, London’s Brunel Museum on Isambard Kingdom Brunel: A Victorian Engineer; Sir Christopher Hum KCVO, Former British Ambassador to China on Taking Tea with the Dragon – Will China Rule the World?; and Paul Edmondson, Head of Research and Knowledge, Shakespeare Birthplace Trust on Shakespeare at 400. Why? Andrea Mays, Author and Professor of Economics, Cal State University at Long Beach also toured under the National Speakers Program with The Millionaire and the Bard: Henry Folger’s Obsessive Hunt for Shakespeare’s First Folio.

7 Evelyn Wrench Speakers traveled to all 8 Regions and spoke to 2,477 members and friends at 47 Branches

The National Shakespeare Competition is a school-based program for teachers designed to develop speaking skills, critical thinking and an appreciation of literature. Students read, analyze, perform and recite Shakespeare monologues and sonnets in three qualifying stages: at the school, community and national levels. It is the only national Shakespeare competition exclusively for high school students.

The 33rd annual English-Speaking Union National Shakespeare Competition occurred on May 2, 2016 on stage at Lincoln Center Theater in New York and drew 55 nationwide winners of ESU Branch competitions. Ari Dalbert from Honolulu, HI, won the first prize, a full scholarship to the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art Young Actors Summer School in London, England. The second place winner, Zlok Oliver, representing the ESU Greenwich Branch, won a scholarship to the American Shakespeare Center Theatre Camp in Staunton, VA, while third place winner, Cecilia Hachepingani, from the ESU San Diego Branch, received $500 from The Shakespeare Society.

“I believe this program to be one of the most valuable ways I can demonstrate to students that Shakespeare is still relevant to many people.”

British University Summer School (BUSS) Scholarships

BUSS Scholarships provide American high school teachers the opportunity to continue their education at prestigious centers of learning in the United Kingdom: Oxford University, Shakespeare’s Globe and Edinburgh University. Through nearly 60 years, ESU BUSS scholars from all over the US have returned from their studies to their classrooms invigorated and equipped to share their newly acquired teaching and learning strategies with more than 200,000 students nationwide.

“Incredible, fascinating, amazing and similar adjectives don’t quite capture the full impact that it had on us, so instead I’ll use Shakespeare’s own words:

“O wonderful, wonderful, and most wonderful, wonderful! And yet again wonderful! And after that, out of all whooping.”

It’s as you like it, and we loved it!

Luard Morse Scholarships

Luard Morse Scholarships provide $25,000 merit awards for top students attending United Negro College Fund institutions, or Howard and Hampton Universities, to spend a semester at the English university of their choice.

Talia Sharp (pictured right, top), a Political Science major from Broadview, IL, and Adaya Sturkey (pictured right bottom), Biology major from Marion, SC, both students at Hampton University, were selected as recipients of the English-Speaking Union Luard Morse Scholarship. Each scholar received $25,000 toward a semester of study at an English university during the 2016-2017 academic year.

Speaking on behalf of the English-Speaking Union Luard Morse Scholarship Selection Committee, Darrell Hill observed that “Talia and Adaya represent the highest caliber of student scholars in our country.” He said that “…the committee members are delighted to welcome them to the family of 75 English-Speaking Union Luard Morse Scholars who, since 1969, have performed with distinction at 19 British Universities, including Cambridge, Oxford University, Kings College, London; and the London School of Economics. We wish them the very best in their future endeavors.”

Talia looks forward to attending the University of London, and Adaya, Oxford.

Secondary School Exchange (SSE)

SSE is a merit-based scholarship that provides tuition and room and board for US students to spend a semester or year between high school and college (known as a “gap year”) at a British or Argentine boarding school, and for UK students to spend their gap year at select US schools.

18 US participants studied in the UK and Argentina.

International Public Speaking Competition

Fifty English-Speaking Unions around the world send young competitors to the ESU of the Commonwealth in London for a week in which they compete at public speaking and participate in a range of activities centered on communication and cultural exchange. The ESU sent Shelby Rapin, sophomore at The Peddie School in Hightstown, NJ, to London to represent the US this year.

Competitors visited and participated in workshops at Shakespeare's Globe, attended a theater performance in London’s West End, and worked with some of the ESU of the Commonwealth’s most experienced speech and debate mentors.

Walter Hines Page Scholarship

Named for the Honorable Walter Hines Page, American Ambassador to the Court of St. James’s during World War I, this scholarship offers British and Argentine educators the opportunity to explore and exchange educational expertise as they travel to the US to study an aspect of education relevant to their own professional interests and development. Sponsored by the ESU of the Commonwealth and ESU Argentina, this international exchange of techniques and ideas benefits the educators — and their students — on three continents.

Middle School Debate

ESU Middle School Debate is an educational initiative for students in grades 5 to 8 — launched with support from the National Endowment for the Humanities — designed to help young adolescents develop critical thinking and language arts skills. The ESU partners with the Claremont McKenna College Middle School Public Debate Program, international leaders in the field, to establish inter-school debate programs in ESU Branch communities.

The ESU Middle School Debate Program grew significantly this year. It now includes three leagues in New York, two in New Jersey, and one in Washington, DC. More than 50 public, private, parochial, and charter schools participated, engaging more than 1,700 teenagers in weekly after-school debate activities, a record number for the program.

The ESU organized 23 day-long Saturday tournaments across the six leagues. A total of 45 schools participated in at least one tournament, 29 of which went on to compete in the second ESU Northeast Regional Championship Tournament in April. More than 800 students debated. The ESU trained 250 volunteer judges for the tournament debates. This level of support from volunteers and partners enabled more than 1,500 debate rounds for a total of 45,000 minutes — equivalent to more than a full month spent debating. Additionally, the ESU organized two teacher debate workshops, attended by 70 middle school teachers from 42 schools in New York and New Jersey.

The Sandhills (NC), Columbus (OH) and Greenwich (CT) Branches administered independent student debate programs.

ESU Branches

Headquartered in New York City and incorporated in the State of Delaware, the ESU coordinates its programs through its network of Branches nationwide. An independent American corporation, the English-Speaking Union of the United States also works in fellowship with more than 50 independent ESUs around the world, most closely with the English-Speaking Union of the Commonwealth in London.

The ESU Branches are the local delivery system of the ESU mission through their programs. Their committed volunteers are invaluable in sustaining the educational and cultural functions of the Branches in promotion of the mission.

Resolution of

The Board of Directors of The English-Speaking Union of the United States

June 6, 2016

Whereas:

Marie Dora Thornburg OBE has dedicated her personal and professional life to forging global understanding and has vigorously advanced the work of the English-Speaking Union of the United States through more than 50 years as Member, Regional Chairwoman, Delegate to the ESU International Council, National Board President and now President Emerita.

Whereas:

As a National Board Member since 1989, Doe, with grace, poise and resolve, has served as an ambassador representing the organization to its members across the country and to scholars, educators, diplomats and men and women like herself interested in establishing peaceful common bonds across international boundaries.

Whereas:

The indefatigable Doe has announced that she can no longer be present at all ESU National Board events.

Now, therefore, be it resolved that:

The English-Speaking Union of the United States National Board of Directors recognizes Doe Thornburg’s ever present spirit as President Emerita and acknowledges Doe as the epitome of the ideal ESU member dedicated to celebrating English as a shared language to foster global understanding and good will.

ESU Annual Conference

New York City | October 10 - 12, 2015

The ESU National Conference and Annual General Meeting

The 2015 ESU Conference, with the theme "George Washington Takes New York City," took place on October 10 - 12, at the Hilton Doubletree Metropolitan Hotel in midtown Manhattan. Branch leaders were specifically invited to a day-long Conclave with the National Board Members on Saturday just prior to the formal opening of the Conference.

Organized by National Headquarters staff, the ESU National Conference comprised a series of meetings, lunches, dinners, receptions and tours over the Columbus Day weekend. Members assembled on Saturday evening after the morning Board meeting and afternoon Presidents’ Conclave, for a reception and opening dinner in the hotel’s Chrysler Room, with close-up views of the Art Deco style Chrysler Building to the south. Noted author and prominent historical biographer, Fionae Frazier, spoke after dinner about her new biography "The Washingtons, George and Martha, Join’d by Friendship, Crown’d by Love" being published by Knopf.

Sunday was a busy day, including regional meetings, and a buffet luncheon with Director General of the English-Speaking Union of the Commonwealth, Jane Easton, providing remarks and offering a suggested new vision for the ESU under the rubric “Discover Your Voice,” and the Annual General Meeting. In the evening, National Patron donors journeyed by chartered coach to the historic Morris-Jumel Mansion, a house museum property of the Historic House Trust of New York City, located in the Washington Heights section of Manhattan. During the American Revolution, George Washington and his patriot officers moved into the house, making it their headquarters for five weeks in the autumn of 1776. It was a strategic location, because the house offered a full view of Manhattan and both the Hudson and Harlem Rivers. There, ESU National Patrons enjoyed a lavish reception co-sponsored by the New York Branch, as well as informative guided tours of the property lead by the museum’s curatorial staff.

The conference concluded on Monday with a bagel breakfast sponsored by the New York Branch at National Headquarters and a walking tour of sites connected to George Washington in the Wall Street area of Manhattan.

The throwing of the toasts is known to have originated in the United Kingdom as a way to celebrate the return of the English monarchs from captivity. It is said that the English toast is a symbol of the restoration of the monarchy, and it is believed to have been originated in 1660, following the restoration of Charles II of England. The English toast is traditionally made with a highball glass, and the toast is raised with a toast to the monarch, followed by a toast to the toast. The English toast is a popular toast among English-speaking communities, and it is still used today in many different countries around the world.
