Cancellation Due to Force Majeure Event

The ESU and its tour organizer SG SCS cannot accept liability where the performance or prompt performance of its contractual obligations is prevented or affected, or participant otherwise suffers any loss, injury, death, inconvenience, or damage as a result of circumstances amounting to “force majeure.” Force Majeure means an event or circumstances which the ESU or SG SCS or the supplier in question of the services in question could not foresee or avoid. Such events and circumstances may include, but are not limited to, acts of God, natural disasters, fires, explosions, wars, terrorist attacks, government actions, epidemics, pandemics, and any other events that are unforeseeable and unavoidable.

The ESU reserves the right to alter or cancel the tour or any part of it if such alteration or cancellation is, in ESU’s sole discretion, advisable to protect participant’s safety and/or well-being in cases such as those listed in the preceding paragraph. The ESU does not accept responsibility for participant’s financial loss arising from such an alteration or cancellation. Payment of any refund by the ESU to participant in such cases shall remain in ESU’s sole and absolute discretion. The ESU will make its best effort to recover payments paid to suppliers and shall reimburse participant where possible. The ESU shall be entitled to deduct from any refund the reasonable actual and potential costs to the ESU, including unrecoverable payments made to suppliers, ESU’s non-refundable registration and planning fee, and additional expenses incurred in the management and cancellation of the tour. In no event shall The ESU and SG SCS’s liability exceed the amount received by the ESU from the participant. If the participant must spend any additional days or nights in the destination(s), participant will be responsible for any additional expenses incurred, including his/her own hotel, transfers, and meal costs.

Changes in Tour

The ESU and SG SCS will make every effort to operate the tour as disclosed in the brochure and itinerary, but circumstances may arise which require modification of the itinerary, substitution of suppliers, changes in inclusions, or changes in staff accompanying the tour. Changes in the trip’s itinerary are possible for ship voyages, e.g. in case of flooding or low water level, inclement weather conditions, governmental regulations, government travel warning if the vessel could not adhere to its schedule at the time that travel commences because of an unforeseen technical defect that causes postponement of the trip itinerary, if the vessel’s management alters the vessel’s course in the interest of passengers’ safety or any other special reason related to the ship travel. In any such cases SG SCS has the right to make use of other means of transportation such as but not limited to coaches and buses for some routes.

The ESU and SG SCS reserve the right to make modifications and substitute alternate suppliers if deemed necessary by the ESU and SG SCS. The ESU and SG SCS cannot be held responsible for any closure, necessary itinerary change, or curtailment for any reason. These changes will not be considered material changes and the Cancellation Policy outlined above will still apply to a tour that has been modified. Although the ESU and SG SCS endeavor to avoid levying surcharges (such as to cover major swings in currency exchange rates or a raise in city taxes on hotels), the ESU reserves the right to do so when necessary.

Health

Participant needs to be in good physical and mental health to participate in this tour. Participants are responsible for their own health, mobility, and personal care for the duration of the tour.

The ESU strongly recommends that the participant obtain medical advice from a personal physician, health care provider, or specialist travel clinic prior to departure as to the likelihood of experiencing any problems with the physical demands of the tour and any necessary health precautions participant should take prior to departure. The ESU recommends obtaining such medical advice at least six weeks prior to departure.

The ESU also strongly recommends obtaining travel medical insurance that will protect the participant in the event of an illness or injury when traveling outside the U.S.

Participant must advise the ESU via the Participant Information section above of any special dietary restrictions or requests (e.g. vegetarianism or allergies). The ESU will accommodate such requests, if possible.

Condition of Booking

The ESU and SG SCS reserve the right to decline to accept any person on the tour and to remove any participant from the tour at any time if, in the opinion of the captain's opinion the traveler is unfit for travel due to illness, physical disability or for any other reason, if the traveler requires special assistance but is travelling without this assistance, if participant's physical condition or behavior compromises the operation of the tour, detracts from the safety and/or well-being of the other participants and/or staff, or renders him/her incapable of caring for him/herself; or if the trip has been booked based on incorrect information or further, because the carriage of the passenger is or could be detrimental to the safety or health or the uninterrupted passage of the passengers, the crew or the vessel.

The ESU will not be financially responsible for any unused portion of the tour or any expenses incurred by a participant precluded from completing the tour for any of the aforementioned reasons. Participant shall comply with the instructions of the escorting tour manager at all times while on tour.

When a participant books a tour with the ESU, participant accepts responsibility for any damage or loss caused by participant. Participant must indemnify the ESU for the full amount of any such claim (including legal cost made against ESU).

Travel and Health Documents

It is a participant's sole responsibility to secure and/or pay for any and all passports, visa, travel permits, reciprocity fees, affidavits, proof of vaccination, health certificates, health screenings, inoculations, or other documentation that is required to be permitted entry to each destination. Any failure of a participant to have proper visas and/or passport will likely result in the participant not being able to enter or leave a destination. No refund will be available in any such case, and the ESU will have no liability in such case.

Flight Arrangements and Airport Transfers

Each participant is responsible for arranging his/her own transportation to the starting point of the tour and from the ending point of the tour. Participant should not purchase airline tickets until the operation of the tour is confirmed by the ESU. The ESU does not accept liability for any airfare costs or cancellation penalties incurred in association with tickets purchased independently by participant. The ESU is not responsible for damage to or loss of baggage, whether temporary or permanent.

If the participant needs flight arrangements and airport transfers, the ESU will refer them to a travel agent. The travel agent may charge a fee for booking a flight including using credit card reward points or frequent flyer miles.

Additional Tour Arrangements

If the ESU and SG SCS suggest optional activities or participant encounters the opportunity to participate in alternate activities that are provided by independent third-party suppliers, participant will be subject to the terms and conditions of the supplier. The supplier may require participant to execute additional documents, waivers, or releases. Participant's only recourse in case of injury, damage or loss will be against the supplier of the optional or alternate activity.
